TALKED ABOUT IN WESTERLY

Another Case of Impersonating a Police Officer — Colored Youth Endeavors to Secure $25 Following Cottage Burglary—Abiel B. Brown and Miss Lydia A. York Married at North Stonington—Lewis Peabody Given Three Months in Jail—Three Local Cases for Grand Jury.

Impersonating a police officer is considered a serious criminal offense, and its continued practice in Westerly is liable to arrest, prosecution and punishment. There are two cases that Police Chief Brown has under consideration. Early last Monday morning a trio of jittery drivers, out on a joy ride, held up an automobile that contained two New London young men on the shore road, the jittery men representing they were state police, and charged the young fellows, who are of the naval reserve, and who were in the way from Newport to New London, with the theft of the automobile in which they were riding and also with violating the automobile law in not having both head lamps lighted. The offenders are residents of Pawcatuck.

Wednesday a young colored fellow went to the cottages that had been robbed of silver, said he was a detective, that he was sent by Police Chief Brown, and came to investigate. He was shown about the premises and then made the declaration that the robbery was by professional, and that he believed he could land them and perhaps recover the stolen articles, although the thieves were probably in a distant city. He said he would require about $25 to cover his traveling expenses, and that amount could be deducted from the reward that he would claim when the offenders were brought to justice. The cottagers telephoned Police Chief Brown and were told that the colored chap was a fraud, to have nothing to do with him and not to permit him on the premises.

Miss Lydia A. York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Palmer York, and Abiel B. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Brown of Westerly, were married at the home of the bride's parents in North Stonington, Wednesday evening, Rev. Joseph L. Peabody of Westerly officiating. Miss Bessie May York, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Linton L. Brown of Carolina was best man.

The bride is a graduate of the Stonington High school, and for the past six years was a bookkeeper in the office of the American Velvet company in Stonington. Mr. Brown was graduated from the Westerly High school, class of 1914, and is in the employ of the R. A. Sherman Sons company. Upon their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Brown will reside in Franklin street, Westerly.

Next Saturday the destination of the Seventh company, Coast Artillery corps, Rhode Island National Guard, will be changed to Twenty-first company of Narragansett Bay, United States Army. This company which was in existence before the Civil war as the Mechanic Rifles, and which later became the Steam Light Guard, Sloane, Indiana, are guests of Mrs. Wall's sister, Mrs. Melissa Coon, in Margin street.

Wednesday was the forty-fifth anniversary of the wreck of the steamer Melis off Watch Hill when nearly 70 lives were lost.

There are several young fellows here and hereabouts, with no visible means of support, who dress well and who always have money. At least two of this type are under police surveillance.

The officers of the Stonington fire department will meet next Tuesday evening in annual session and go through the form of the collecting Chief Ed P. Todd and Assistant Chas. D. Main.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fairbairn Darrell of New York and Stonington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy May, to Eldon Harvey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Eldon Harvey, of Hamilton, Bermuda.

Burglars attempted to include Greydon, the summer residence of Park Painter, of Pittsburgh, in the Monday night robberies at Watch Hill. The presence of a naval police interfered with the burglars' plans.

There are three cases from Westerly for the grand jury at the September term of the superior court. The automobile manslaughter case on the Watch Hill road, and two cases of carrying concealed weapons.

As the Westerly constabulary is not fully armed and equipped the command will not accept the invitation to join with like organizations in the state in the parade and competitive drill for the Beekman cup, at Narragansett Pier, next Sunday.

The names of 112 slackers in Rhode Island, who failed to appear for examination under the selective service law, have been sent to the adjutant general at Washington, and classed as deserters. This is the first list to be forwarded and does not contain the name of any Westerly young men.

NOANK

New Tracks Near Avery Memorial Completed—Station Entered and Express Packages Tossed About—Red Cross Workers Busy.

Orders for the two new tracks of the New Haven road over the Avery Memorial bridge were laid in place on Wednesday. The several miles of four track from Broadway's bridge to Avery Memorial are now complete.

Work of changing the line of the Groton and Stonington at that spot has commenced and the rail will be close to the lower abutment making plenty of room for automobiles and heavy vehicles. The curves will be eliminated and the track for about 200 feet made straight and plain. The poles have been moved and the work of changing the rails will be done after travel on the line is over at night so as not to obstruct traffic. One night is expected to be all that is needed.

Station Entered.
 No clew has been found of the men or boys who entered the station of the New Haven road here and threw the express packages about in an evident search for something they could not find, as nothing was removed. Detectives of the road have been here looking into the situation.

Busy at Freight Yard.
 A photograph was recently taken of the freight yard at the station where so much material for the Gilton Iron Works has been received. A car load of galvanized spikes was added Wednesday to the consignment there. The boiler for the steam hoister has also arrived.

R. U. Palmer was recently at Gales Ferry inspecting some newly arrived lumber for the concern.

D. of A. Meeting.
 Liberty council, Daughters of America, held a meeting Wednesday evening. The goal of the order committee served refreshments.

The schools will not begin here until September 10. On account of scarcity of heat to finish the work inside the schoolhouse. Some repairs are yet to be made.

Dr. and Mrs. Fred Fitch and children will return today to their home in Easthampton after a month at Groton Long Point.

Lawrence Ashcraft is recovering from an attack of blood poisoning caused by getting a lobster spear in his hand.

Miss Otto W. Munroe of Providence is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. L. Fitch.

T. J. Sawyer is having new cement walks laid at his residence in Main street.

Red Cross Day.
 Thursday was Red Cross day and about 25 women turned out to the rooms in Palmer's hall. Much work was completed.

Mrs. Frederick Martin of New York is the guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer.

Mrs. Jerome McDonald and children of Newport are guests of Mrs. Jessie McDonald of Spring street.
